Student-Led Conferences (SLC)

What is the purpose of SLCs?
Student-Led Conferences serve several goals, for the student, their family, and the teacher. For students, Student-led conferences can be a powerful tool for learning how to lead a conference, set goals, self-monitor progress, and reflect on achievements or struggles. For teachers, it serves the purpose of monitoring individual student progress. For families, it allows families to be an authentic part of their child’s education.

When do SLCs happen?
SLCs for your child happen 3 times per year (sign up for your individual conference in October, January, and April).

How do I prepare for them?
SLCs are a time for your child’s teacher, you and your child to come up with goals for the quarter.

- Talk with your child about what is going well and what they feel needs improvement
- Check your child’s grades on JumpRope before your child’s conference
- Start thinking about goals for your child. When you think about a goal for your child, think about how will you know they accomplished this goal? What strategies can they use to accomplish this goal?
- Make sure to mark your personal calendars or cell phone calendars to remind you of the date and time of your meeting
- BE ON TIME for your child’s SLC. Teachers have back to back meetings and being late will not only cut your meeting short but also for the family who is meeting right after you

News for 5th Grade families

Greenhouse in a bottle experiment
This week our 5th grade scientists will be doing an experiment called Greenhouse in a bottle. This experiment simulates the effect increased CO2 levels have on our climate. This experiment is a bit technical and will be more successful for students if we have additional support in the room. If you can join us during science time to help out please let Ms. Starch know:

Thursday 10/17: 12:10 - 2:15 Block A
Friday 10/18: 12:10 - 2:15 Block B

Student-led conferences will be held on October 24th & 25th, please make sure to sign up for your child’s conference by October 18th!
Our board is engaging all of our adult stakeholders - staff and families - around the CEO Job Description and the qualities that they want to see in our next CEO. Tomorrow Board members will engage with families to hear YOUR ideas and thoughts - Come join us! Translation to Spanish will be available.
